Shopping

People can buy things both at stores and on the Internet. Shopping at stores is a good way if people want to touch and try products such as clothes. Shopping on the Internet is especially helpful when people can't go to stores. Having two different ways to shop has made shopping more convenient.