- 1      Kana: Tim, I will watch a rugby game with my friends. Can you join us?
        Tim: Sure, Kana. What time will the game start?
- 2      Kana: Tim, I like your T-shirt. It's nice.
        Tim: Thank you, Kana. It has a picture of my favorite animal.
        Kana: Oh, you like dolphins.
        Tim: Yes. I like this design of a dolphin and sea waves.
- 3      What do you do in your free time? I often enjoy outdoor activities. I especially enjoy climbing mountains. Climbing mountains is not easy exercise. But, when I reach the top of a mountain and see a great view of the nature, I feel great joy. It's also fun to talk with people I meet while I climb a mountain.
- 4      Kana: Tim, I heard you did a survey for the next school English newspaper.
        Tim: That's right, Kana. I asked a question to 50 students. The question was "Of the four popular places in this city, which do you like the best?" I have made a report of the results.
        Kana: Sounds interesting. Please tell me more.
        Tim: The students chose one place from the zoo, the aquarium, the castle and the beach.
        Kana: I guess the aquarium was the most popular.
        Tim: You're right! 20 students chose it.
        Kana: I see. And what was the second?
        Tim: Well, it was the beach. And both the zoo and the castle were the third. Each of them was chosen by eight students.

5 Hello, class. Today, I'll talk about the thing I like. It's dancing. I started dancing when I was a high school student in the U.S. One day, I saw a performance of professional dancers. Their performance was amazing and made me excited. The dancers also looked very happy about their performance. I wanted to learn dancing then.

A few days later, I went to a local dance school to see its lesson. I saw about ten people dancing there. Though they were not professional dancers, their dance was very good. I thought I couldn't dance like them. I was worried and didn't join the dance school on the day.

The next day, I had a chance to talk with my aunt. I told her how I felt at the dance school. She then said, "I understand how you felt. But nobody is good at something from the beginning. If you keep trying it, you can get better someday." Her words gave me courage and I joined the dance school.

I have enjoyed dancing since then. Now, I enjoy dancing in Japan. I don't speak Japanese well, but through dancing, I made many friends here. I want you to remember that we are all beginners when we start something new. Don't be afraid of trying a new thing!

Question 1: How did Mr. Green feel when he saw the professional dance performance?

Question 2: What is the thing Mr. Green said?

6 Kana: Tim, you look happy.

Tim: Hi, Kana. My grandparents will come to Japan next month. They will travel to Osaka and Kyoto.

Kana: That's great. So, you will see them, right?

Tim: Sure. My host family and I will pick them up at the airport in Osaka and then we'll have a party at home to welcome them. That will be my first time to see my grandparents after I started to live in Japan.

Kana: That's nice. Will they come to Japan for the first time?

Tim: No, they have been to Tokyo once. They will visit Osaka and Kyoto for the first time.

Kana: I see. Will you guide them during their trip?

Tim: I'll show them around Osaka for one day. I don't think I'll go to Kyoto with them. They have a friend living in Kyoto and they will stay at her house. She will take them to some temples they want to visit in Kyoto.

Kana: I see. Where will you take them in Osaka?

Tim: I haven't decided yet. My grandparents say they want to visit places I often visit.

Kana: They may want to know about your life in Japan.

Tim: Maybe. Oh, if you are interested, would you like to join us? I'll show them around Osaka on the first Sunday next month.

Kana: I'll be free on that day. I'll join you. I want to show your grandparents many interesting places in Osaka.

Tim: Let's make a plan together!

Kana: OK!

Question 1: Who will take Tim's grandparents to some temples in Kyoto?

Question 2: Which is true about this conversation?
