02 The School Admission Process TOP

◎ First time enrollees (Will be enrolling from the first level)

◆ For Kindergarten Enrollment

1. For foreigners who have been issued with a "Residence card" upon entering Japan, bring it to the Citizens or Residents Division of your local city hall.
2. Get an application form (nyuuegansho) from the kindergarten where you wish to send your child, fill in the necessary details and submit it to the kindergarten office.
3. Go to the kindergarten you have applied to on the appointed date.

◎ First time enrollees (Will be enrolling from the first year)

◆ For Elementary and Middle School

1. For foreigners who have been issued with a "Residence Card" upon entering Japan, bring it to the Citizens or Residents Division of your local municipal hall. (Residents' Registration)
2. Let the Board of Education's School Affairs Division of your municipality know of your intention to enroll. After receiving an enrollment guide (shūgaku annaisho), fill in the necessary details and submit it to the appropriate window. Parents/guardians who have already registered and have been living in Osaka for some time will be sent by the local Education board a copy of the enrollment guide when their child reaches school age. Fill this out and submit it.
3. After several days you will receive an enrollment notification from the municipal hall. Make sure that the name and address of the school is correct. (If you applied in person, you may receive an enrollment permit on the spot.)
4. On the appointed date, both the child and parents/guardians go to the school. Bring along the enrollment permit you received from the Student Affairs Division. In Japanese schools the student's level is determined by age.

For those who find understanding Japanese difficult during classes in elementary or middle school, there are localities that allow interpreters to come inside the classroom. Even if having an interpreter come to class proves to be difficult, interpreters may still accompany parents/guardians when they go to the school during conferences with the teacher and other occasions. For more information, please consult with the teacher.

(This is also possible even for some high schools and kindergartens.)

◆ For High School

- In order to enter high school, entrance exams must be taken.

For more details refer to the pages on Possible Paths after Middle School and the High School Entrance Examination System.

◎ Transferees (students entering school on a year level other than the first)

◆ For Elementary and Middle School

1. For foreigners who have been issued with a "Residence card" upon entering Japan, bring it to the Citizens or Residents Division of your local city hall. (Residents' Registration)
2. Let the local Board of Education, School Affairs Division know of your intention to transfer. You will receive an enrollment guide, fill in the necessary details and submit it to the appropriate window.
3. On the appointed date, head to the designated school. Bring with you the enrollment permit that you received from the School Affairs Division.

◆ For High School

For those who will study full time in high schools in Osaka, both the parents/guardians and the student themselves must be residents of Osaka. For part time schools, only the student need reside within Osaka or be currently employed in Osaka. Their past academic records from overseas are also required.

1. Let the Osaka Board of Education (Education Promotion Office, High School Division, School Affairs Group) know of your intention to transfer.
2. At the Board of Education, it is ascertained whether the applicant has the necessary qualifications for transferring. After determining the applicant's Japanese language proficiency, the next step is a consultation with the help desk for transferee applicants.
3. Transferee exams are held right before the start of each term. The test coverage differs somewhat from school to school, but it is mainly a test of ordinary academic ability.
4. The applicant may enroll after successfully passing the transferee exam.

03 The Japanese Educational System TOP

04 About Kindergarten TOP

Kindergarten is the first educational institution that children can go to. From age 3 to just before entering elementary school, they can receive the same type of education anywhere in Japan. (Some schools allow 3 year old children to enter kindergarten without waiting for the official start of classes in April.) With this, the children's first experience with interacting with a large group, each child's strengths and abilities are allowed to develop. Kindergartens are different from elementary and middle schools because no textbooks are used and learning is centered on "play". Through all kinds of play, children learn to deal with people, build their vocabulary, and come to appreciate the beauty and mysteries of nature. This sets the foundation for learning in elementary school.

Even though it is called "play", the teacher attempts to foresee the experiences necessary for each and every child's development, and draws up a plan in that direction. In this way, continual guidance is ensured.

[Class Levels]

Classes are divided into 3 year old, 4 year old and 5 year old sections.

[Teachers]

One teacher handles a class of 35 children or fewer.

There is also the principal and administrative staff.

[School District]

Public schools fall under certain districts, whereas private schools do not fall under any particular system.

[School Breaks]

There are summer, winter, and spring breaks. Public kindergartens do not have classes on Saturday.

Difference between Private and Public Schools

Both are under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Education, however, the day care fee for private schools is more expensive, they have English lessons, and it's possible to extend day care hours for a longer period.

•Major Annual Events (Differs by school)

April – First term opening ceremony, admission ceremony, home visits

May – Children's Day, Start of bringing packed lunches, Mother's Day, Field Trips*

June – Dental Hygiene Day, Father's Day, Medical Exam

July – Water fun, Tanabata Festival, Overnight Day Care, First term closing ceremony

August – Summer Vacation

September – Second term opening ceremony, Respect for the Aged Day

October – Sports Festival, Potato Digging, Field Trip

November – Shichigosan Festival, Labor Thanksgiving Day

December – Student Exhibit, Christmas, New Year Cleaning, Second term closing ceremony

January – Winter Break, Third term opening ceremony

February – Setsubun or "Bean Throwing Festival"

March – Hinamatsuri or "Girls' Festival", Graduation rites, Third term closing ceremony, Spring break

* There are parent-child excursions as well as teacher-child only excursions.

Also, once every month, a birthday celebration is held for all children born during that month.

05 What is Elementary School Like? (School Life) TOP

In Osaka public elementary schools, the following are set guidelines. These differ from school to school, so please consult further with your child's school teachers.

◆Going to school

1 School route

In order to safely travel to and from school, there are set routes. These are called tsuugakuro (school route). These routes were chosen to be the safest way to school so make sure to use them.

2 Ways to go to school

○In groups

Children in the same area go to school together. Make sure to arrive at the designated meeting place on time.

○Individually

A child goes to school either on his/her own or with other children in the same neighborhood.

◆Start of classes

School starts at 8:25am or 8:30am. Make sure to come to school around 10 minutes before then. Arriving in school past the designated time for start of class marks the student as tardy. The school must be informed if the child is going to be late or absent due to sickness or other reasons.

◆School time

The number of classes and dismissal time differ according to day and year level. In the 6th grades, classes start at 8:30 am with 4 class periods in the morning (each period lasts for 45 minutes). After lunch (either school-prepared meals or packed lunches) there are 2 more periods. In most schools, the total classes per day are 5 or 6 periods. The homeroom teacher mainly teaches most subjects.

◆School-prepared lunch (kyushoku) and home-prepared packed lunch (bentou)

Almost all elementary schools in Osaka have lunch provided by the school. The children take turns in distributing the lunch by themselves and in cleaning up after. This is called being the "kyushoku touban."

There are days when no lunch will be provided, such as at the first day of the term and during special events. In such occasions, bringing a packed lunch will be necessary. The school will inform you in advance should that be the case.

If there are certain foods that cannot be eaten due to religious reasons or food allergies please consult with the homeroom teacher on what can be done.

The school-prepared lunch must be paid for by the parent/ guardian. It costs around 4,000 yen to 5,000 yen monthly.

◆Cleaning time

There is a time set aside each day for cleaning. In elementary school this is done after lunch time. The children clean the classroom, the stairways, the corridor, the toilets, et cetera. Everyone cleans their school together.

◆Dismissal time

Students take the same route they took coming to school in going homeward. Dismissal time differs by year level and day of the week. It is also different on days when there are special events. You will be informed by the school in advance should that be the case.

◆School wear

Most schools allow the student to wear whatever they want. However, there are also schools that have their own prescribed uniforms.

During P.E. students must change to P. E. uniforms that will allow freedom of movement. Apart from the indoor shoes, there are schools that require that another set of shoes be worn only in the gymnasium.

If a student is designated as in charge of distributing school lunches for the day, it is necessary for him/her to wear an apron, mask, and cap. The mask must only be for personal use.

During swimming classes in summer a swimsuit and swimming cap is required, and again, both must only be for personal use. Students must write their name on their belongings. For further details, please consult the school.

◆The class

The homeroom teacher is in charge of a class made up of a maximum of 35 children. Although the class is centered on the instruction of the homeroom teacher, depending on the year level and school, another teacher may be called in to instruct on the arts and crafts, music, or home economics subjects. Sometimes multiple teachers teach subjects.

*Each school has its own policies for covering each subject, and each class has its policies about activities at the start and end of the class and various school events. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to ask the homeroom teacher as soon as you can.

◆Subject matter

These are the subjects covered in school.

Grades 1-2

Language (Japanese), Arithmetic, Living Environment Studies, Music, Arts and Crafts, Physical Education, and the Special Subject "Moral Education"

Grades 3-4

Language (Japanese), Arithmetic, Social Studies, Science, Music, Arts and Crafts, Physical Education, the Special Subject "Moral Education", and Foreign Language Activities

Grades 5-6

※Apart from these, there are Special Activities (classroom activities, student council, club activities, and school events) and the Period for Integrated Studies. Like student council, Special Activities are students' voluntary activities with an aim to enhance their school lives.

◆Classroom tools

Textbooks are free of charge. Necessary materials other than textbooks must be prepared at home. Some classes require the student to bring their own equipment.

Language (Japanese) → Writing Brush, Ink, etc.

Music → Keyboard Harmonica, Recorder, etc.

Arts and Crafts → Water Color Set, Crayons, Pastel Crayons etc.

Home Economics → Sewing Kit, etc.

Depending on the subject, the school may collect money to pay for materials the school prescribes and purchases for all students.

◆Interpreters

Some schools can provide interpreters to enable parents/guardians and children who are not proficient in Japanese to communicate better with the school staff or classroom teachers. Please consult the teachers for further information.

◆Medical exams

【Medical exams】

Schools in Japan consider the medical exam important. There are several types of medical exams.

- Health survey (taking of medical history, examining the current state of health)

- Height and weight measurements, internal examination (abdominal), eye exam, ear and nose exam, dental check-up, eyesight exam (vision acuity test), hearing test
- Tuberculosis test
- Cardiac test (ECG) - all first graders must undergo this.
- Urine test

※There are also times when a medical exam must be undertaken before strenuous activities such as swimming class, marathons or mountain climbing, and overnight excursions.

◆Report card (Tsuuchiyou)

The child's grades and performance in school activities are recorded here. It is received on the day of the closing ceremony, which is the last day of the term. After showing it to the parents or guardians, it is handed back to the homeroom teacher on the day of the opening ceremony, on the first day of the next term.

In order to safely travel to and from school, there are set routes. These are called tsuugakuro (school route). These routes were chosen to be the safest way to school so make sure to use them.

2 Ways to go to school

A child goes to school either on his/her own or with other children in the same neighborhood. Most middle school students go to school on their own.

After lunch (either school-prepared meal or packed lunch) there are 2 more periods. In most schools, the total classes per day are 5 or 6 periods. There are different teachers for each subject.

◆Home-prepared packed lunch (bentou)

In middle school, whether they provide school lunch or not depends on the school. Some schools provide school lunch to all students, while other schools provide lunch to those who have made an order in advance. If your school does not provide school lunches, please bring a packed lunch. Students will be eating lunch on school premises (and may not go home for lunch). If you are unable to bring lunch, you may buy some lunch e.g. bread (pastries and sandwiches) and bring it to school. At some schools bread (pastries and sandwiches) is sold on the premises.

At schools that serve school lunches, the students take turns in distributing the lunches themselves and in cleaning up after. This is called being the "kyushoku touban."

There are days when no lunch will be provided, such as on the first day of the term and during special events. In such occasions, bringing a packed lunch will be necessary. The school will inform you in advance should that be the case.

◆ Club activities

After regular school hours, students can join activities that relate to the sport that they excel in, or one related to culture.

◆ Dismissal time

Students take the same route they took coming to school in going homeward. Dismissal time differs by year level and day of the week. It is also different on days when there are special events. You will be informed by the school in advance should that be the case.

In middle school there are 5 to 6 periodic tests in a year (the midterms and the finals). There are some subjects that only require 1 test per term, some 2, others give no test at all, basing the student's grade on classroom performance alone. Periodic exams are usually held in 2 to 3 days. There are some schools that give take-home exams or evaluation exams. Please ask the teachers for further details.

09 Possible Paths after Middle School TOP

Pathways after middle school can be broadly divided into either further education or employment.

For further education, there are various types of schools to consider such as high school, vocational high school, technical school and schools in miscellaneous categories. Due to the variety of schools, students are advised to consult with parents/guardians and teachers. High schools differ in terms of length of school day and purpose. It is especially because of this that it becomes important to choose the school that is best suited for the child. Additionally, when taking the entrance exams to public high schools in Osaka, it is possible to obtain "special considerations" that allow test times to be extended, the use of dictionaries etc. Consult the middle school teacher about taking entrance exams.

There are 2 paths to employment.

The first is by means of the public employment office through the middle school.

This allows a job seeker to check working conditions of the companies recruiting new employees. After that the matter can be discussed among the job seeker, parents/guardians and the homeroom teacher. The job seeker can then visit the workplaces he or she is interested in, decide which ones to apply to, and take the employment exams.

Most employment exams include job interviews, but this may vary from company to company.

The second is through connections. There are several cases where someone you know can try to help you find a job.

Even in this case, the public employment office must be informed through the school.

No matter which path the child takes, be it higher learning or seeking employment, it is important to consider seriously the child's future and discuss it with them and their homeroom teacher before deciding.

10 What is High School Like? TOP

High School Life

In Osaka public high schools, the following are set guidelines. These differ from school to school, so please consult further with your child's school teachers.

◆School levels

High schools may be classified into two types, those with a school year system and those with a credit system. In the school year system, each year has a prescribed set of subjects (some subjects are electives). Many absences, failure to submit requirements, and failure to achieve the required grades in tests will result in failure to advance to the next level, and the student will have to repeat the entire year. In the credit system there is no school year and no repeating of levels. In order to graduate, there are a fixed number of necessary subjects. Passing these subjects earns the student units. Getting the necessary number of units enables the student to graduate.

◆Units

An official unit is the number of class hours in a week. For example, if the math class meets 4 hours in 1 week, then that class is equivalent to 4 units. In most high schools, after studying for one year, if a certain score (marks) is obtained in tests, etc. it is considered that the required units for that subject have been achieved

◆Start of classes

School starts at 8:25am or 8:30am.

◆Tardiness

A student is tardy when he or she hasn't entered the classroom by the time each class begins. There are cases when being tardy often is equivalent to being absent from class and could prevent a student from earning credit for the class. The school must be informed if a student will be late or absent due to sickness or other reasons.

◆School time

Classes start at 8:30am with 4 periods in the morning (each period lasts for 50 minutes). After lunch (either school-prepared meal or packed lunch) there are 2 or 3 periods. The total classes per day are 6 or 7 periods. There are different teachers for each subject.

◆Home-prepared packed lunch (bentou)

High schools in Osaka do not provide school-prepared lunches. Please bring a packed lunch from home, or buy some lunch e.g. bread (pastries and sandwiches) and bring it to school. Some high schools have school canteens.

◆Cleaning time

After classes end, there is time set aside for cleaning the school. The students clean the classroom, stairways, corridors, toilet, and other rooms. Everyone cleans their school together.

◆Club activities

The time for extracurricular activities after regular school hours is called "houkago". During this time, students can join activities that relate to the sport that they excel in, or one related to culture.

◆ School wear

Most high schools have their own prescribed uniforms. Students come to school wearing them (one set for summer and another for winter).

During P.E. students must change to P.E. uniforms that will allow freedom of movement. Apart from the indoor shoes, there are schools that require that another set of shoes be worn only in the gymnasium. Each high school decides on what PE uniforms students should wear.

During swimming classes in summer a swimsuit and swimming cap are required, and again, both must only be for personal use. Students must write their names on their belongings. For further details, please consult the school.

◆ The class

The homeroom teacher is in charge of a class made up of 40 students or fewer. The homeroom teacher may also have an assistant. There is different teacher per subject.

※ Each school has its own policies for covering each subject, and each class has its policies about activities at the start and end of the class and various school events. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to ask the homeroom teacher as soon as you can.

◆ Subject matter

In high school there are Language (Japanese Literature and Language and Culture), Geography and History (Comprehensive Geography, Comprehensive History, etc.) Civics (Public and others), Math, Science (Physics, Biology, Chemistry etc.), Health and Physical Education, Arts (Art and Design, Calligraphy, Music etc.), Foreign Languages, Home Economics, Information Studies and other subjects. Some high schools have their own special subjects.

※ Apart from these, there are Moral Education classes, Special Activities (classroom activities, student council, and school events.), and Periods for Inquiry-Based Cross-Disciplinary Study.

◆ Classroom tools

All materials required for study, including textbooks, are not free.

In art and other subjects it is required that the students bring their own equipment.

◆ Interpreters

Schools can provide interpreters to enable parents/guardians and children who are not proficient in Japanese to communicate better with the school staff or classroom teachers. Please consult the teachers for further information.

◆ Medical exams

<Medical exams>

Schools in Japan hold regular medical exams. There are several types of medical exams.

- Health survey (medical history, examining the current state of health)
- Height and weight measurements, internal examination (abdominal), eye exam, ear and nose exam, dental check-up, eyesight exam (vision acuity test), hearing test
- Tuberculosis test (X-ray) All first year students must undergo this.
- Cardiac test (ECG) All first year students must undergo this.
- Urine test

※ There are also times when a medical exam must be undertaken before strenuous activities such as swimming class, marathons or mountain climbing, and overnight excursions.

◆ Periodic tests

In high school there are 5 to 6 periodic tests in a year (the midterm and the finals). There are some subjects that only require 1 test per term, some 2, others give no test at all, and some base the student's grade on daily classroom performance alone. Periodical exams are usually held in 3 to 5 days. There are some schools that give take-home exams or evaluation exams. Please ask the teachers for further details.

◆ Report card (Tsuuchiyou)

The student's grades and performance in various school activities (attendance, absences etc.) are recorded here. It is received on the day of the closing ceremony. After showing it to the parents or guardians, it is handed back to the homeroom teacher on the day of the opening ceremony, on the first day of the next term.

What is a school year in High School Like?

School starts in April and ends in March. There are 2 types of high schools, one using the school year system and the other using the credit system. There are schools that operate under a trimester system and schools that have two semesters. High schools have various events. Some events require the attendance of the parent or guardian and others require some financial outlay. In such cases, the school will inform parents/guardians in advance. Although the names of the events and the scheduled activities differ from school to school, they share similar features. Below is an example of a school with a trimester system.

First term (April-July)

● Opening ceremony

This is held on the first day of school. The entire student body is usually assembled.

● Entrance ceremony

This is to celebrate first year students entering the school. Parents and guardians also attend.

● Medical examination

A physician checks if the students' health is in good condition.

● Height and weight measurements

The students' height and weight are measured.

● Excursion

Topics that cannot be covered inside the classroom are studied outside. These may touch on topics such as nature, history, culture, and the like.

● Parent-teacher-student conference

Parents/guardians with their children discuss school and home life with the homeroom teacher (at least 3 people).

● Swimming Classes

Most schools have swimming pools. Swimming classes are held from mid-June through July.

● Closing ceremony

This is held on the last day of each term. The entire student body is usually assembled.

● Summer break (end of July to end of August)

This is a long break that lasts around 30 to 40 days.

During this period there are days in which the students may have to come to school for swimming class, club activities, and the like.

Second Term (September- December)

•Sports festival

This event makes physical activity fun through competitions such as short and long distance races, relay races, dances, and cheering. Depending on the school, the students' family may be asked to participate. In general in elementary school this event is called "undoukai" (literally "exercise meet") while in middle and high school it is called "taiikutaikai" (literally "physical education meet").

•Culture festival, Students' exhibit

Students display their work in arts, crafts, and home economics; exhibit their reports in social studies and science; perform musical instruments or choral singing, plays, and the like. Parents or guardians usually also attend.

•Winter break (end of December to first week of January)

This break lasts around 2 weeks.

Third Term (January-March)

•School excursion (shuugaku ryokou)

In public high schools, second year students take an overnight excursion together. This is usually done during the second or third term.

•Graduation ceremony

This event is for successful graduates (those who have earned the required credits) and diplomas are awarded.

•Closing ceremony

This event is held on the closing day of the school year. Usually students of all the grades attend this ceremony.

•Spring break (end of March to early April)

Spring break begins after the closing ceremony.

11 High School Entrance Examination System TOP

- In Japan 90% of middle school graduates go on to high school.

Those who wish to take entrance exams for high school, vocational schools etc., are encouraged to plan a strategy and prepare in advance.

- Choose the school you want to enter as soon as possible

→ You should choose the school you want to go to at least 6 months prior to the entrance exams.

You will learn a lot by going to the "Multilingual Career Guidance" (Tagengo Shinro Gaidansu). It is annually held around October. One-on-one consultations are available at this event. Contact a teacher at the school for more details.

- Take a tour of the school

→ Visit the school before deciding that is where you want to enroll. In most high schools, this is what is called "trial admission" (taiken nyuugaku). You can go to the school and take a look at the classrooms, the gym etc, and can even join in on classes. An interpreter may be provided, so speak to the homeroom teacher.

- Study hard

→ The entrance exam covers a wide range of topics. Research them well and study methodically. Ask your middle school teacher for advice on the most effective way to study.

- Consult your teachers, parents or guardians thoroughly

→ Although the choice of a high school is yours, your teachers, parents or guardians can give you invaluable advice.

Also, your middle school is required to contact public high schools etc. to discuss "special considerations" for entrance exams so that you will be able to take advantage of them.

- Apply to the high school of your choice

→ After talking with your middle school teachers, submit your application forms via the online application system to the high school during the prescribed application period.

- Take the test

→ Go to the school you applied to on the test date and take the entrance exam (admission screening).

12 Possible Paths after High School TOP

The paths after graduating from high school diverge into either finding employment or higher learning (entering college).

For higher learning, it would be necessary to take different types of tests.

Higher learning falls into various classifications: the 4-year university, the 2-year junior college, vocational schools etc.

Entrance exams to universities and junior colleges take several different forms.

For National Public Universities

○All applicants must take the Common Test for University Admissions* in January. (Some private schools also require it to be taken.)

*It may also be used for private universities entrance exams. Talk to your homeroom teacher or guidance counselor to see if you can use it for the private universities you want to apply to.

The coverage of the exam differs from university to university and from department to department.

For more information, please take a look at the link below for the National Center Test homepage.

<https://www.dnc.ac.jp/kyotsu/index.html>

○Next, each university has their own required exams, to be taken on two different scheduled days. Other schools may have more test days.

Passing this will allow you to enter the university or junior college.

For Private Universities

○Entrance Exams with Designated Recommendations → For each high school, universities and junior colleges designate the number of test-takers, and a list of qualifications that each test-taker must have. This kind of test begins around early October. Those who pass cannot refuse to enroll.

○Entrance Exams with Ordinary Recommendations → This entrance exam starts in late October. Universities and junior colleges themselves select the names of possible test-takers in advance. Some schools do not allow backing out from enrollment. Try to find out if that would be the case beforehand.

○General Entrance Exams → This begins from January onwards. It's possible to try taking exams from several different schools, as well as trying to pass them several times. Passing them does not entail compulsory enrollment.

○AO type Entrance Exams → Instead of taking conventional tests, students may be selected based on the overall achievements of his/her high school grades, interview and group discussion, personal statement, short essay, etc.

As mentioned above, there may be a different set of guidelines for returnee students, foreigners, and other special cases. Please discuss the issue thoroughly with your homeroom teacher or guidance counselor and research the school of your choice.

For those who wish to seek employment, there are two options.

(1) Finding work through your high school

In general, job postings (including description of the job, estimated salary etc.) are usually sent first to high schools by companies.

For this method:

1 Investigate thoroughly the working conditions of each company.

It is important to read the announcement well.

2 Discuss it with your parents/guardian and homeroom teacher.

Does the job description suit you? Is the company too far? Would the job's particular qualities, or will the situation at your own home enable you to stay at the job for a long time? These are questions that must be considered.

3 Take a tour of the company you wish to enter.

It's always better to have a look at the company than to merely trust the details written in the announcement.

4 Choose the company you wish to work for.

After seeing it for yourself, researching about it, and talking it over with others, select the company you wish to go to.

After you let your homeroom teacher or your career/guidance counselor know of your intention to join the company, they will process your application for you.

5 Take the company exam.

Ask the details of the exam (time, date, location) from your teacher and take the exam. After passing this, your hiring is assured! The job exam differs from company to company.

However, most include an interview as well.

[Things to remember when taking the exam]

- Prepare a map and ask for details of the test location. If it is in an area you are not familiar with, it would be a good idea to take a look at it before the date of the exam.
- Leave the house early and arrive at least 30 minutes before the exam time.
- Find out how much you will be spending in going there, and also bring extra money for unforeseen circumstances.
- Be well groomed when you arrive. It is better to wear your school uniform during the exam if your school has one.
- Be careful of your speech. Almost all people in the company will be older than you. Do not forget to speak politely.
- As much as possible, let your teachers in school help you to prepare. Practice answering interview questions with them.

※ Some schools receive a lot of job postings, while others receive only a few.

If there are no companies you wish to join from those who sent job postings to your school, then go to the public job placement office in your locality.

(Hello Work) Students may search for work just like other job seekers.

(2) Finding work through personal connections

Another way of finding work is through connections.

There are instances when people you know will introduce you to available jobs. For this situation, do not leave everything up to them. Ask pertinent questions about the job and working conditions. It is important that you understand what you are getting into.

It is also important that the one who will introduce you to the job is someone that you or your family knows very well.

In either case, it definitely must be discussed with the homeroom teacher.

14 School and Community Interpreter Service TOP

If the child cannot understand Japanese well (having just enrolled or transferred), an interpreter may join the child in class. This is particularly for elementary and middle school students.

Aside from this, an interpreter may also be present on occasions when the parents or guardians would need to go to school, such as during parent-teacher conferences.

At present, it would be difficult for an interpreter to join kindergarten and high school classes. However, they can still be present during parent-teacher conferences.

This policy may differ according to your locality, whether it would be necessary for you to hire an interpreter yourself, and whether it is possible for them to be present. If you need an interpreter to be present during classes, please let the school know during the admission process. Should an interpreter be necessary on other occasions, please let the school or your homeroom teacher know when the need arises.

Community Interpreters

Depending on the locality, international organizations may have interpreters dispatched. Various NGO and NPO organizations may also dispatch interpreters.

The services available would differ from agency to agency but there are interpreters who will be able to accompany you should you need to go to the hospital or the municipal hall. Apart from this, they may also be requested to translate documents necessary for municipal hall transactions. For more details, please refer to the list of consultation organizations.

16 Japanese Language Classes Held in Schools and Local Communities TOP

In elementary and middle schools, there are areas where Japanese language classes are available for children who wish to learn. All sorts of classes are available. However, most can be found in elementary and middle schools. During subjects that become difficult to comprehend due to insufficient grasp of the Japanese language (such as language class [Japanese] or social studies), students who have difficulty can transfer to another classroom (or in some cases, to another school) for that subject's period only and study the Japanese language with others in the same grade.

In areas where these Japanese language classes are not offered, during language class (Japanese) or any other difficult subject, students are transferred to another classroom where they are taught slowly so that they may understand by another teacher. There are cases where this is done after regular classes or during holidays.

Please take note that the content and frequency of these Japanese language classes vary from area to area, or from school to school, therefore it would be advisable to consult the school's teachers first.

As a general rule, Japanese language classes are not offered in high schools.

○Child and Family Centers, Child Counseling Centers

Through the Child Welfare Act, child counseling centers have been established in all of the major regions of Japan as well as in key cities as the foremost institution for child welfare. In 1994, the centers in Osaka underwent restructuring, a name change, and can now address various concerns regarding the child and the family.

■Child Counseling

As determined by the Child Welfare Act, child counseling centers acting as the administrative body of that law provide medical examination and treatment, as well as temporary guardians.

- The centers provide consultation with the family and others for all problems related to children.
- Through examination of society by surveys of the Child Welfare Office, psychological examinations by psychology experts, medical examinations by medical practitioners, and other comprehensive examinations, the centers aim towards finding solutions for problems regarding children, as well as problems of families.
- When the need arises, children are allowed to stay or make use of the Child Welfare facilities, or be entrusted to foster parents. The centers plan for the healthy upbringing of the child.
- Should the situation arise that a child requires a temporary guardian, the centers will provide one.
- The centers assist in the early assessment of the mental development of children, and discuss ways to provide support.

21 What Options are Available after Graduation from Middle School? / We Are Going back to Our Own Country Soon. (Your Child's Options) TOP

Q1. My child will graduate from middle school soon. What are his/her options in Japan?

A. In Japan, after graduation from middle school, the two broad categories are either higher learning or seeking employment. For higher learning, there is high school, colleges of technology, vocational schools, special training schools, etc. Decide after consulting with the homeroom teacher. If the student wishes to pursue the road to employment, he/she must go through the middle school, so he/ she should consult with the teachers before deciding. Please refer to the page "Possible Paths after Middle School" for further details.

Q2. I'm not sure when we will have to go back to our home country. If my child engages in higher learning in Japan, will their academic record be recognized in our country?

A. Educational systems differ from country to country; however, most will recognize your child's academic record. If the number of years taken or number of courses is insufficient, your child will need to take the remaining requirements after returning to your country. Research carefully the educational systems of both countries.

Q3. I want to send my child to high school but I'm worried if we can afford the tuition.

A. In Japan there are scholarship organizations. They will lend the necessary funds for high school, university, or vocational schools. The amount is then paid back when the student is able to work after graduation.

The method of repayment differs for each organization. For high school, there is the Osakafu Ikuei Kai (Osaka Prefecture Scholarship Association). For further details check their website below.

Please note that the loan eligibility is subject to your status of residence.

Q4. What should be worn to school?

A. In most cases, middle school and high school students wear a uniform when going to school. Each school has their own prescribed uniform. There is a winter version for the cold season and a summer version for the hot season.

On the other hand, most elementary schools do not have a prescribed uniform. In such cases it would be advisable to have the child wear something that allows freedom of movement.

Q5. What is the PTA?

A. In English it stands for Parent Teacher Association, a school-based organization of teachers and parents/guardians. The parents/guardians and teachers work together to raise school children by discussing the children's education at home and at school. They do such things as participating in school events as members of the PTA and more. Lately, cases where children have been victimized by crime on their way to school have increased. There are schools where the PTA patrols school routes.

22 When Your Child Doesn't Want to Go to School (Truancy) TOP

Q. Lately my child has stopped going to school. (does not want to go.) What should I do?

A. Counselor's advice

Not being able to understand Japanese upon entering school, and not being used to Japanese culture and the educational system, make it difficult for a child coming from overseas to make friends among his/her classmates, to understand the lessons, to get used to Japanese style lunches and so on. Because of these reasons, a child may stop going to school.

In order to make the child come back to school, it is important to think of the cause first and eliminate it. Even though you may think of various solutions, please talk it over with the homeroom teacher since they are the ones who know school life best. It is important for the parents/guardian and school (teachers) to work together for the sake of the child.

It is important first of all to talk with the child's teacher.

※ Counseling centers outside school

If it is difficult to talk to the teacher at the school, places such as the Osaka Child and Family Center can offer counseling about truancy.

Refer to the list of "Child and Family Centers and Youth Counseling Corners" under the list of "Consultation Organizations" on page 31.
